

Service is our passion.
RetroFit
Control panel

Old user interface.
Poor spare parts supply.

Frequent operating procedures put a lot of strain on operating panels. In addition, resolution and computing power are constantly being improved. In some cases, it is no longer possible to supply spare parts.

It therefore makes sense to modernise the system with minor adjustments to ensure trouble-free long-term operation. This includes replacing the control panel.

Our RetroFit programme is ideal for small and large solutions. The range of RetroFit services is huge.

Convincing technology.
Reliable results.

Into the age of connectivity: with WEBSeason[®]

With the innovative WEBSeason[®] user interface you can programme, control and monitor your test anytime and anywhere - even via tablet and smartphone. WEBSeason[®] creates a new dimension of flexibility and efficiency*.

With older control system generations, the control panel can often be replaced by a successor type with an identical user interface*. This significantly extends the service life of your system.
